According to its website, the museum sits on 145 acres that were once part of the estate of William Cullen Bryant, the longtime editor of the New York Evening Post, whose home nearby became a cultural hub in the 19th century.

“We are deeply honored to be recognized as the Best Art Museum/Gallery on Long Island by Daily Voice Readers' Choice Awards,” said Beth Horn, Executive Director. “This acknowledgment reflects not only our commitment to presenting world-class exhibitions and educational programming, but also the continued enthusiasm of our community, donors, and partners. We remain dedicated to making art and art-making an inspiring, meaningful, and accessible experience for visitors of all ages.”

Through March 8, 2026, you can catch a special exhibit: Real, Surreal, and Photoreal. It invites visitors into a world where reality, dreams, and imagination blur, tracing how Realism evolved across more than a century of art and features works by artists such as Salvador Dalí, Man Ray, Alex Katz, John Currin, and Carole A. Feuerman.
